Mr. Beatty will give an overview of the current uses of natural gas in our region. He has considerable direct experience in designing and building compressed natural gas fuel stations. He recently completed his sixth natural gas fueling station in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Beatty will be describing virtual pipeline, energy, and methane derivatives markets, which integrate small-scale producers of CNG, LNG, GTLs in order to advance innovative uses for PA indigenous natural gas into the transportation sector.

The focus of his presentation will be on the implementation of vertical integration from well head to finished product, leveraging the best management practices for by-products utilization.

Among his current endeavors, he will also be discussing the 400 acre “Sunnyside Energy Park” that is in the process of being constructed in Jefferson County, a site that will include over 1,000 small gas wells to be utilized in various energy applications.
